Recent Death:

Third Sunday of Easter

They recognized Jesus at the breaking of the bread. The story that comes before this line is my favourite gospel story. Read Luke 24: 13-35 and you step into the world of two sad disillusioned men leaving Jerusalem. The Jesus they put their trust in was dead, so were their hopes. As they walk, Jesus is with them but they don’t recognize his presence. The Risen Jesus is not just the old Jesus back again. He is present in a different way, for these men and for us. The Risen Jesus is present at the breaking of bread. For these men and for us it is a moment of precious energy that must be shared. Filled with Jesus new life the men hurried back to tell their friends. Does the Eucharist give you new energy to share with others?
